

STARS IN YOUR CROWN.

E F#
When he was seventeen, the Lord came to him and said;
B7
I've chosen you, to do my will, and be a light in the world.

I'll take your life, fill it with joy, make you a fisher of men.

But he said Lord, no not now, I'm only seventeen.

No not now, I've got plans of my own

No not now, now's a bad time.

When he was twenty-one, the Lord came to him again.
Said; now will you follow me, you're still a part of my plan.
He said; Lord not now, I've got this real good job, I want to try it on my own.
Maybe later on I'll follow you, but now's just a bad time.

When he was thirty-one, the Lord came to him one night,
Said; follow me, do my will, and I'll give you a better life.
He said; no not now, I've got me a wife, and a child on the way.
I want to stand by my family, and right now all I can say:

When he was sixty-five, the Lord came to him once more.
Said; follow me, there's still time, for you to do my will.
He said; I'd love to Lord, but I'm too old, and a pension plan til I die.
I want to sit back and watch my grandchildren grow, and reap what I've sown.

No not now, I'm on that pension plan road,
No not now, I want to reap what I've sown.

When he was 85, the Lord came to him for the last time.
Look back at your life it's come to an end, I've come to take you home.
See all through your life, I've called for you, but you've always turned me down.
You have lived a good life, saved your own soul,
but there wont be any stars in your crown.

...cuz you kept saying...

No not now, I've got plans of my own,
No not now, now's a bad time.
